THE REGENCY PUBLISHERS

WHAT WE ARE SHARING TODAY

Nurture nature; save the future!

A global celebration of Earth Day has taken place every April 22 for the past 50 years to raise awareness about the health of our planet.

"Invest In Our Planet" is the theme for this year's Earth Day, highlighting the effects of climate change on the planet we all share and the measures to counteract them. Taking a firm stance, innovating widely, and implementing fairly are the most important aspects of all this.

This world has a voice for all humankind. There will never be a single person who can do everything. However, the time has come. We can make a difference when we work and strive together.

No one is obligated, but we should all be reminded to maintain the proper frame of mind — to not live in fear of the world exploding and flooding, but also not to live in ignorance. Read these books from The Regency Publishers while commemorating Earth Day.
